LAKE STEAMER IS RAMMED AND SUNK FOG IS BLAMED

Survivors of Canadian Vessel
Picked up and Carried to Port

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich.—The steamer Huron, bound for Sault Ste Marie, was rammed and sunk by the steamer Cetus, down-bound, off Whitefish Point Thursday afternoon in the densest fog that has been recorded here for years.

The Cetus picked up all survivors of the sunken steamer and slowly made her way down the bay and into upper St. Mary's river, coming to anchor above Big Point.

Word of the sinking was sent to the Sault and a tug left immediately for the Cetus with food supplies.

No details other than that the entire crew is safe have been learned.

The Huron was a Canadian vessel, owned by the A. E. Matthews Steamship company of Toronto. The Cetus belongs to the Interlake Steamship company of Cleveland. The Cetus was down-bound loaded with ore.

The heavy fog which has held navigation practically at a standstill since Wednesday afternoon was little improved Friday morning.

BOOST BABY BUGGY ONTO MOVING SHIP

An obliging pair of sailors threw down a rope, hoisted the carriage to the deck and the liner swung out into the river.

SAVE THY SERVANT

O THOU my God, save Thy servant that trusteth in Thee.
—Psalms 85: 2. It is the spirit that quickeneth.—
John 6: 65.

Transition

ONE can somewhat measure the difference between this country a half-century ago and today by the fact that 9,400 acres of government land offered to ex-service men for homesteading is going begging. At the Duluth land office not an applicant has appeared, and the number applying at other offices of entry is reported as "several." Contrasting this condition with that after the civil war, when the west was opened up by the rush of veterans who took advantage of the homesteads offered, it is apparent at least that one phase of the pioneer spirit has gone.

It is no longer held desirable to carve a home from the wilderness. The prospective homesteaders balked when they learned that the lands offered around Duluth were cut-over areas—and fifty years ago settlers, though preferring forest lands to prairie because they accepted the growth of trees as evidence of the fertility of the soil, held the removal of the timber to be the first essential step in the creation of their homes. Obviously we are no longer a nation of axmen and farmers; there is more than economic pressure behind the fact that more than half of our population is now hived in the cities. People live in cities because they want to. They are mechanics, professional men, machine-operators, office workers, an industrial population that knows nature in the original only through the medium of the flivver and the vacation trip.

It is a change that has come swiftly, and one to which public opinion has not yet accommodated itself. We still think in terms of the outdoor era, to a large extent. We imagine ourselves to have, as a nation, the self-sufficiency of the farm, when in fact we are increasingly dependent upon the market for manufactured goods created by industrial civilization. Perhaps a great deal of our political confusion and lack of harmony may be traced to this unrealized transition. A generation more and it will be better understood that the majority of Americans depend for a living and for prosperity on successful manufacturing and merchandising, and the recognition of the fact may go far toward unifying and stabilizing our national policies. We shall probably know a little better what we want, and see a little more clearly what way to reach it.

That is one advantage which older civilizations have over us. They have known for generations exactly their needs and limitations, and have been able to construct definite and concrete programs. We have no crystallized program, because most of us are still guided by ideas invented by a nation of farmers and independent village mechanics to administer the prosperity of a self-contained, intensely individualist society in which consumption and production of simple necessities balanced, and between them comprised all economic activity. We are trying now to revise those ideas, and the stress and strain of the times springs from the working of the new wine in the old bottles.

A Lost Art

THE quill pen has fought its last battle against the steel and fountain pen—and lost. Philip Cooper of London, whose company used to ship as many as three million quill pens at a time to the Indian government, announces that they've quit making quills.

The Southwark County Court in England has been the last stronghold of quill pens. The court clung to them as a matter of sentiment, a link with the olden days. But even this court recently discontinued quills and adopted fountain pens. So dies a quaint and ancient industry, mighty in its day.

Such quill pens as will be made in the future will be the decorative kind that are parked in a jar of birdshot on milady's writing desk. Philip Cooper gives "no market" as the chief reason for going out of the quill manufacturing business. Another reason is that he no longer can find a workman who knows the art of making them. The craftsmanship involved in making quills was intricate and required a skill found in few trades. The art was handed down from father to son. As with beating out gold leaf, it was said that a quill pen maker was born, not made.

The quill pen served many generations to whom it was the leading instrument of making records and writing letters. Its passing is symbolic of the fate of all man-made devices. The new and improved inevitably becomes the antiquated and obsolete. The fountain pen is "handier," but experts claim that the best grade of quill pen—made from a wild goose of Hudson Bay—is the finest instrument for writing in the world. These top-notch quills sold in hundred-lots for about 13 cents apiece—in the old days when 15 cents was considerable money. Wonder what will eventually put the fountain pen out of business.

Under Your Feet

CHARLES DARWIN found 53,000 "fishworms" in the average acre of British soil. The number was around half a million an acre where the soil was exceptionally rich. Right now is the busiest season of the year for earthworms. Wherever the autumn winds are making withered leaves flutter to the earth, our old friend fishworm is dragging the dead leaves into his tunnels, there to rot and enrich the soil.

Professor J. Arthur Thomson, in "The Outline of Science," records that, on the average, the fishworms in an acre of ground pass ten tons of soil through their bodies each year—and they have been doing this for many millions of years. They cover the surface at the rate of three inches in 15 years, and they are thus continually circulating the soil. An age-long ploughing field, which was so thickly covered with hard flints that it was known as the Stony Field, was left untouched for 30 years, after which a horse could gallop from one end to the other without ever striking a stone.

Darwin wrote this: "The plough is one of the most ancient and most valuable of man's inventions; but long before he existed the land was, in fact, regularly ploughed by earthworms. It may be doubted whether there are many other animals which have played so important a part in the history of the earth as have these lowly organized creatures." The earthworm made life on earth possible for man. We couldn't continue existing, without its assistance at preparing the soil for the food we eat and for the trees so chemically necessary in our system of air supply.

Sartorial Effects

By H. IRVING KING

Dan was chauffeur for the Vanderberg Griffins and Mary worked in a department store. Dan was in love with Mary. Mary was in love with Dan, and they were both of a marriageable age. Well then, you will say, why wasn't the marriage license taken out and the clergyman engaged? The answer is because Mary dressed too well. She was as modest and pretty as a moss rosebud in June, but when it came to dress Mrs. Vanderberg Griffin herself did not wear quieter and more expensive-looking gowns than Mary MacMahon, and Mrs. Vanderberg Griffin's clothes were the envy and admiration of her high and exclusive circle.

Wagon Cassidy could not be chauffeur to Mrs. Vanderberg Griffin for five years and hear all the gossip of the servants' hall without having an inkling of what that lady disburbed for clothes in the course of a year. Of course he knew that Mary MacMahon could not, in the nature of things, spend a fraction of the money which Mrs. Vanderberg Griffin squandered on hats and gowns and things; but nevertheless when Mary met him at the corner of Thirty-third street and Fifth avenue, from which trusting place he was to take her to the movies, and he saw her dressed in a costume to all appearance a replica of the one in which his employer had worn that afternoon, his heart smote him and his savings bank account all experienced a sinking sensation.

To speak the fatal words to the object of his adoration, but sartorial considerations had held him tongue-tied. Now after marriage could he ever afford to dress her in the manner in which she was accustomed? And he hesitated to ask her to make the sacrifice. Thus affection drew him toward the marriage altar and the same time warned him away from it. Once or twice he had come near to making the plunge by telling Mary just how the matter stood. But when he had got as far as "Mary, your clothes always look as if you were worth a million," and hesitated to tell her that he was in love with her, he had been interrupted by her costumes, interrupted with, "Oh, Dan, I am so glad you like them. Wait until you see the lovely gown I am going to have next month. Whereupon Dan would retreat into himself, sigh and change the subject.

To tell the truth, Mary often wondered why Dan did not propose. He came so near it so often and then, for some unaccountable reason, she tried to make it easy for him—that at last she began to think that his hesitancy was caused by a growing fondness for "another"—and this thought made her very miserable.

She hinted her suspicion to Dan and his earnest disclaimer partially reassured her. Then she began to wonder if he had some dark secret in his life. Perhaps, thought she, he was married already, secretly, to an "unworthy one" from whom he had parted. An irrefragable something began to form between them, a separating psychic force to operate which presaged disaster, a ghost which accompanied them to the drug store where he brought her ice cream soda and sat beside them in the darkened halls of the moving picture theaters.

Therefore when Rosalie Garden came into the drama, things began to happen. Rosalie worked at the next counter to Mary in the department store, and one day, when they happened to be together and met Dan on the street, and an introduction could not be avoided, Mary introduced her to Dan.

Rosalie was at once taken with the stalwart youth and made a "dead set" at him.

Now Miss Garden was blonde, light and lively. She half starved herself to get money to spend on clothes, which, no matter what she paid for, them were always loud and dowdy and worn as if they had been thrown at her. That was Rosalie's misfortune, not her fault; but it was her fault that she at once began an attempt to take Dan away from Mary.

Her skill was so great that one night when Dan asked Mary to accompany him to the movies she refused his invitation with acerbity and told him that he had better ask Rosalie. And Dan, being piqued, did so. Mary went home and cried her eyes out while Rosalie "had a lovely time."

After the show Dan, rather to his surprise, found himself wheedled into taking his companion to a rather expensive restaurant for a "little supper," which under Rosalie's ordering became a big one.

Perhaps Dan "fell for" Rosalie's "little supper" scheme because his mind was not concentrated on the "instant need of things"; he was busy comparing Rosalie's cheap looking attire with the expensive-looking garb of Mary and wondering if Mary would ever be content to wear such clothes in his secret heart he knew he did not want her to.

Then the wild idea came into his head of drawing out his savings account, going into Wall street, making a million or so, marrying Mary and telling her to "go the limit" on clothes.

You seem much interested in my clothes, Dan," said Rosalie, who had not failed to notice the constant regard which he had paid to them all the evening. "Ain't they pretty sleek? They ought to be; they cost enough. This waist cost me—" She proceeded to her costume and affix prize tags to them which caused Dan's eyes to pop with astonishment.

"A week afterward Mary, having decided she would not give up Dan without a struggle, consented to meet him at their old trysting place. She appeared as usual, looking as if just turned out by a Fifth avenue dress-maker.

"Good evening, Dan," said Rosalie. "Why, yes, Dan, if you really want me," said Mary with a little blush and smile.

"You bet I do," said Dan. "It was some time before their marriage before Mary found out what it was that had kept Dan so long from asking her to be his wife and how Rosalie had unwittingly played the part of the Greek god Hymen." (Copyright, 1923, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

FORD MUM, MAY MEAN HE'LL RUN ON THIRD TICKET

OMAHA, Neb.—A letter received Thursday at Lincoln by Secretary of State Pool from Henry Ford's general secretary, E. L. Liebold, responding to a communication from Mr. Pool notifying Mr. Ford that, unless his name were withdrawn, it would be placed on the Nebraska presidential preference primary ballot, contained no rejection of a filing of a petition to make Mr. Ford a candidate of the Progressive party, a special dispatch to the Omaha World-Herald said.

"Political observers," said the dispatch, "see in Mr. Ford's failure to reject the filing his silent approval of the Ford boom."

In his letter Mr. Pool sent a copy of the record vote of the 1922 primary election in Nebraska and notified Mr. Ford that the petition in his behalf had been found to be legal. Replying, Mr. Liebold said that "we are very much interested in knowing the figures recorded from the primary election in 1922."

CONVULSIONS OF NATURE RAISING BED OF OCEAN

Bottom of Sea Near St. Helena Reported to Have Risen Two Miles in Twenty Years

LONDON.—By The Associated Press.—Discovery by a cable repair ship that the bed of the ocean in the vicinity of St. Helena had risen two miles during the last 20 years has led to a belief among scientists that the whole southern Atlantic ocean bed is undergoing a vast submarine convulsion.

Some authorities have even made the statement that such changes are going on continually, and that these disturbances may occur in any locality. They believe that this is the reason for the frequent sudden appearances of islands and shoals in the southern oceans. It is also claimed that when the ocean bed is raised in one place there is a corresponding drop in some other section of the world. The discovery of this strange phenomena was made recently when it was reported by the Eastern Cable company that their cable between St. Helena and Capetown was broken at a spot some 800 miles north of the Cape. The cable had been laid in 1899 and had been in constant use. On its arrival at the designated spot the cable repair ship reported to London that, instead of the depth of the water being 2,700 fathoms, or just over three statute miles, as stated on the chart, it was only a little more than three-quarters of a mile deep.

$5 Powders

The kind I use—at very modest prices

By Edna Wallace Hopper

The powders we use in Movieland cost us $5 per box. Beauty is our stock in trade, and we care not what it costs.

I have offered to other women my helps to youth and beauty. The very creations which France supplied me, which made me a famous beauty, and which have kept my youthful beauty to a grand old age.

But I did not think of powders. I never dreamed that the powders I use could be sold at modest prices.

Women by the thousands asked about my powders. So I showed the makers that millions of boxes could be sold to users of my beauty helps. And they offered me those identical powders, made under my name, to be sold at 50c and $1.

Few ever used them

Up to now, few women have ever used a powder so exquisite. Few could afford the price. Now I bring them to you—the finest powders experts can create. They are as fine as vapor, as harmless as dew. And all are fragrant with my favorite perfume. Now the powders used by stage and movie beauties can be used by all who wish.

There are two kinds, light and heavy. I use a cold cream powder, with a base like my Youth Cream. It clings and stays. But some like a powder light and fluffy, without the cold cream base. So I had both kinds prepared.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream Powder—the heavy, clinging powder—sells for $1. Edna Wallace Hopper's Face Powder—the light and fluffy powder—sells for 50 cents. Both come in three shades—white, flesh and brunette.

All druggists and toilet counters now supply my helps to youth and beauty, and my powders, too. These are the French creations which made me what I am. My Youth Cream—based on fruits. My Facial Youth—my famous liquid cleanser. My Hair Youth, which brought my luxuriant hair. My White Youth Clay—the last word in facial clay. My Beauty Book comes with each. I offer them in the hope to bring millions the benefits I got. Powders are incidental. But now you can get them also, and I am very glad for your sake. Edna Wallace Hopper. Business address, Waukegan, Wis. Sold by Heescher Bros., La Crosse, and leading toilet counters everywhere.

Sister Mary's KITCHEN

PICCALILLI

Nearly every housekeeper sometimes finds herself with more vegetables on hand than she can use on the table.

The temptation to buy is great when driving through the country where the farmer has his vegetables displayed by the roadside. Before you know it you have a larger supply than your family can eat while the vegetables are fresh and good.

The woman with a garden is often at her wit's end as to how to take care of her surplus with the danger of frost growing with every day.

These recipes for chow-chow and "piccalilli" may help you to salvage these late vegetables or take care of the surplus.

English Piccalilli

One small head of cabbage or a medium sized head of cauliflower
2 dozen small cucumbers, 1 quart small string beans, 12 small onions,
3 red peppers, 2 green peppers, 4 cups vinegar, 2 1-2 cups brown sugar, 1 cup salt, 2 teaspoons pepper, 1 tablespoon nutmeg, 1 tablespoon allspice, 2 teaspoons celery seed, 1 tablespoon cinnamon, 1 tablespoon turmeric.

Wash and drain vegetables. Chop and put in a crock with alternating layers of salt. Let stand over night. In the morning drain and rinse in clear cold water. Drain and shake as dry as possible. Put vinegar into preserving kettle and bring to the boiling point. Add sugar and spices and when mixture again boils add vegetables. Boil for 20 minutes and seal in sterilized jars.

Green Tomato Piccalilli

Four quarts green tomatoes, 4 medium sized onions, 2 large sweet red peppers, 2 cups shredded cabbage, 3 cups diced celery, 1 cup salt, 6 cups vinegar, 2 1-2 cups brown sugar, 1-2 teaspoon cayenne pepper, 2 teaspoons whole cloves, 1 tablespoon mustard seed, 1 tablespoon finely broken stick cinnamon, 1 teaspoon peppercorns.

Wash and chop tomatoes. Peel and chop onions. Remove seeds and ribs of pepper and chop. Put all the vegetables except the celery in a crock with layers of salt and let stand over night. In the morning drain and add celery. The spices in a small muslin bag. Put vinegar, sugar, pepper, spices and prepared vegetables in preserving kettle. Bring to the boiling point and boil half an hour. Put into sterilized jars and seal.

Chow-Chow

One-half peck green tomatoes, 1-2 peck apples, 24 small onions, 6 green peppers, 6 red peppers, 1 small head of cabbage, 2 tablespoons white mustard seed, 1 tablespoon whole cloves, 1 tablespoon celery seed, 1 tablespoon all-spice, 1 tablespoon ground mustard, 1 cup brown sugar vinegar.

Slice tomatoes and sprinkle with one-half cup salt. Let stand over night. Drain and chop. Add apple chopped, onions chopped, peppers prepared and chopped and cabbage shredded. Mix ground mustard with sugar. The spices in a bag. Put all ingredients in a preserving kettle, cover with vinegar, bring to the boiling point and simmer two hours. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

Tiny string beans are often used in place of apples in this recipe.

HAMILTON LODGE STAGES FUNCTION AT CASTLE HALL

Knights and Ladies Enjoy Banquet and Dance on Thursday

Two hundred and fifty guests attended the fall opening of Hamilton lodge, Knights of Pythias, on Thursday evening, at its Castle hall on Avon street. The hall and dining room had been decorated for the occasion with oak leaves and large bouquets of flowers. The yellow leaves were symbolic of the seasonal function and the decorations committee received much appreciation.

The Pythian Sisters had charge of serving the banquet, which was done in their usual splendid style. The dining room was kept open from 5 to 9 o'clock. During the banquet hours a number of artists entertained in the auditorium for the waiting guests, and later the Rainbow Gardens orchestra took up the pleasant task of entertaining an already happy crowd. It was 1 o'clock before the last of the dancers admitted that the day was complete and turned their faces toward the waiting automobiles.

FLAG RAISING AT COUNTY SANATORIUM IS INSPIRING EVENT

Inspiring for those present was the flag raising at the Oak Forest Sanatorium last Sunday when the Stars and Stripes was flung to the breeze atop the flagstaff that towers above the crimson leaved oak trees that surround the hill on which the sanatorium is situated. The flag was presented by the Goodfellowship club of the sanatorium to the institution. C. H. Schaeffer, of the board of trustees of the sanatorium, accepted the flag for the institution. The Rev. W. J. Macy, Curran delivered the invocation. Prof. L. C. Hatch gave the dedicatory speech. "The Elks" band played "The Star Spangled Banner" as the flag was raised to the top of the staff. The celebration was closed with a concert by the Elks' band.

DR. CARL B. SPUTH WAS HONORED GUEST AT PHY. ED. COURSE BANQUET

The first event of the first annual homecoming of the La Crosse Normal school was a banquet held last evening at the school in honor of Dr. Carl B. Sputh, founder of the department of physical education, and the tenth anniversary of the department. Over two hundred faculty members and students attended the happening.

Dr. Sputh, in speaking of his work at the local school said, "If there was a man that stimulated me, it was the father of your present director, W. J. Wittich. He was one of the greatest men that I ever knew and was responsible for my study of medicine. Mr. Wittich tried to set examples for his pupils and that inspired me more than anything else and I tried to do the same thing here."

"When I first came here the physical education course was looked on as a playground," he spoke of the difficulty of arranging the course and that he worked the students so hard that he was reprimanded for it. He urged at least a three year course in order to get in all the work that is required of a physical education teacher.

Need Background
"The man or woman with an education in academic subjects who is an effective leader on the gym floor is the person that will succeed and hold his title."

Dr. Sputh said that the change in the old course of things was remarkable. He stated that some people realized that it was necessary to train women to carry on athletic work as well as men. He said that if we wanted a strong race the women must be developed as well as the men.

He urged the students to look on physical education with an artistic eye. "The thing that we are trying to stress in physical education is the control of the mind over the body," he stated. "And if that is so we must look on these things with an artistic eye rather than an evil eye."

He told the students to be teachers while they were on the gymnasium floor, but that after the class was over to be a student with the students.

He concluded his talk by thanking the physical education students for the gift they had presented to him and said that he was glad to be back in La Crosse and at the Normal school again.

Prof. W. J. Wittich, director of the physical education department, acted as toastmaster. He said that the occasion was one of great moment in the history of the school because, first, it was the first homecoming, second, it brought back Dr. Sputh, and third, that it was the tenth anniversary of the school of physical education.

President Cotton Speaks
"It was a long search to find the right man to organize our first department of physical education," stated President F. A. Cotton, when he talked on "Our Dr. Sputh." "We finally found Dr. Sputh in Indianapolis and had him come here to organize our department. He has been the embodiment of honor and an indefatigable worker. Dr. Sputh was the very soul of loyalty. He was glad of an opportunity to build up a school of physical education and put every ounce of strength that he had into the task."

Our institution is one of the best in the United States, he congratulated the city and faculty on this institution.

BANGOR HOTEL MAN FINED $250 FRIDAY ON LIQUOR CHARGES

O. H. Johnson's place Raided on Thursday; J. O. Felzer Fined $250 for Home Brewery

O. H. Johnson, proprietor of the Union hotel, Bangor, was arraigned in county court Friday morning on liquor charges and was fined on his plea of guilty, $250 and $9.48 costs, by County Judge Brindley.

State prohibition agents visited the Union hotel Thursday afternoon. As they entered the barroom, Johnson is alleged to have fled out a rear door and to have tossed a bottle of liquid he had on his hip on the stone walk, breaking the bottle and spilling the contents. Johnson was charged with illegal possession of liquor and with destruction of a fluid while his premises were being searched.

J. O. Felzer was fined $250 and costs on charges of illegal possession and manufacture of intoxicating beverage, namely home brew. Thirty-six cases of pint bottles of home brew were found on his place on upper French island by state agents.

John Schmale and his partner, George Pendleton, were arraigned in court Friday morning on charges of illegal possession of liquor, illegal possession of a still, illegal manufacture of liquor and illegal possession of mash with which to manufacture liquor, contrary to law. The raid was made on Pendleton and Schmale's farm on French island. Pendleton told the court that he was guilty of making moonshine but that his partner, Schmale, had nothing to do with it. Judge Brindley adjourned the case until Friday afternoon.

MRS. STOKES GOES TO MISSOURI TO HUNT EVIDENCE

NEW YORK.—Activity in the Stokes case shifted Friday to Missouri, where Mrs. Stokes has gone with counsel to hunt witnesses in an attempt to disprove testimony that she was seen with Wallace in Booneville and Buncheon, Mo., in 1904, when she declares, she was attending school in Washington and did not know the man.

There has been an insult current for some time that the physical education students are poor in academic subjects. This is not so and I want every physical education student here to brush that insult away. Put your shoulders to the wheel and stand for the best in education everywhere," he said in conclusion.

Auld Lange Syne

Miss Bessie Bell Hutchison responded to the toast, "Auld Lange Syne." She said that the evening brought a flood of memories to her mind and that she could picture a round table of faculty members that were present at the time Dr. Sputh was in school. "I never saw a man," declared Miss Hutchison, "that could command the respect and love of young people as Dr. Sputh did. He brought out the best in all of his students. He was not discouraged at the limited equipment that the school offered him but worked untiringly to make conditions better."

Representatives of the respective classes gave short talks. They were Miss "Tiny" Eugenia Ziemer, freshmen, Walter Fisher, sophomores, and Glenn Brown, seniors.

Mrs. George Hackner, student of Dr. Sputh, graduate of the physical education department, and teacher in that department, gave a short talk on the alumni of the school. She said that she was very glad to be present at the occasion and only wished that more of the alumni could be back for it. She described the first class of five students in the department and spoke of the excellent work of Dr. Sputh. She mentioned the improvements that the school had since the first class entered.

Phy. Ed. Teachers Speak

Coch "Tubby" Keeler gave a short talk in which he expressed the sentiment of the team and told of the fight that they were going to put up on the field. "We have the scrappiest and gamiest little football team that the school has ever turned out," he said. "We are going to give a good account of ourselves in the game Saturday whether we win, lose, or draw."

Miss Lenore Thompson, Miss Emma Wilder, Prof. Robert Nohr, Jr., and Prof. Hans Reuter, all of the physical education department, gave short talks.

Makes Presentation
"Julie" Kevin, quarterback, made a presentation speech and presented Dr. Sputh with a gift from the members of the physical education department. He said, "The pride and spirit of Dr. Sputh will always dwell in this institution with us. We are more than proud to have this opportunity to present you with a lasting keepsake from this department and we present this token as a bond of lasting friendship."

The luncheon was elaborately decorated with autumn leaves. Bouquets of tangerine and white dahlias formed the center pieces on the table. Music was furnished during the evening by Donald Reibe on the violin; Robert Walling, on the clarinet and Prof. Joseph Leader on the piano. Joseph Shields sang "Out Where the West Begins" and Clyde Russell sang, "In an Old Fashioned Town."

Yells were led by Bob Hodge. Pep songs that were sung were as follows: "They Were Only Boosting Phy. Ed.", "Phy. Ed. Style", "Phy. Ed. Smile", "Peggy O'Neil", "La Crosse Normal Hymn" and "La Crosse Normal song."

BOYS CONFESS TO MURDER OF HERMIT TWO YEARS AGO

NEW YORK.—The two-year-old mystery of how Henry Gerling, 86-year-old recluse, came to his death in his cabin at Watervliet, near here, has been solved by the alleged confession of four youths who, according to Sheriff G. C. Bridgman, say they killed Gerling, March 31, 1921. The boys, who are being held, are: Alvin Keller, 16; Rhinehold Trichel, 16; Leon Long, 15; and Howard Long, 14, all of Watervliet. The reported confessions say Gerling was struck on the head, then bound and gagged. Robbery is the given motive, but the boys are said to have admitted they were unable to discover Gerling's reputed hoard.

NO FLEAS IN PARLIAMENT, SO BRITISH LAW SNUBS 'EM

LONDON.—Performing fleas on the English stage—in fact all fleas whose lives are consecrated to the drama—must go through their acts without the possibility of protection in the case of maltreatment. This slight to the fleas is contained in an anti-flea clause of the government's new Performing Animals Bill which has passed the committee stage in the house of commons.

When the question was debated it was decided that reptiles and fish should be included but fleas must fight their battle alone. An amendment was carried to this effect.

The real reason for the discrimination was that the difficulty of using the flea as evidence.

DANSBURY AND HIS SISTER ENGAGE IN A LEGAL CONTEST

He Sues for Furniture Rental; She Counters With Board and Storage Bill

The family troubles of Monroe Dansbury and Mrs. Sarah Luther were aired in Judge Hunt's court on Wednesday. The court will decide the case later. Dansbury was represented by Clarence Weber and Mrs. Luther by Albert C. Wolfe.

The bone of contention appeared to be furniture that Dansbury had bought 23 years ago and which now is, according to Dansbury, in possession of his sister, Mrs. Luther. There have been several hearings on the case, the litigation starting last May. It seems that Dansbury bought some old furniture when he was married the first time, 23 years ago. His first wife died and some years later he remarried. The second marriage ended in a separation. Dansbury is said to have turned the furniture over to his mother for safe keeping. The mother moved around the city a lot and the furniture was moved with her. When she died some eight years ago, Dansbury is said to have arranged with his sister, Mrs. Luther, to take care of the furniture. It was distributed about Mrs. Luther's home, a chair in this room, a bed in that, and something else in some other room.

Some time ago Dansbury and his sister had a discussion about some family matters and Dansbury sought to get his furniture back. Mrs. Luther wouldn't give it to him. Dansbury started a replevin action in Judge Hunt's court last May. The question in replevin was whether Mrs. Luther had an in keeper's lien on the property. Dansbury and his son having boarded and roomed at Mrs. Luther's. The court held that Mrs. Luther held a lien on property brought with him at the time or after he went to board at his sister's place, but not on furniture there before that time. Dansbury when he went to board at his sister's brought among other things a bed spring and duster and an oil can. He got a judgment for them.

Now Dansbury is suing for $2 a month rent for eight years for the use of the furniture in his sister's house. He admits he owes $85 board bill but also puts in a claim for $24 for painting Mrs. Luther's automobile, making a total of $189.85. Mrs. Luther says Dansbury owes $139 board bill, and declares that instead of her owing him rent for the furniture, she wants $2 a month for eight years for storage for the Dansbury furniture, or a total bill of $200.

At the close of the hearing Dansbury and Mrs. Luther engaged in a wordy battle in the courtroom. Judge Hunt requested the belligerents to go out in the hallway if they felt that they must fight, not to put on a battle royal in the courtroom.

"Do you mean I can clean him up out in the hall, judge?" eagerly inquired Mrs. Luther.

"Do your fighting out there," replied the court, "and go as far as you like."

MOTORISTS WARNED BY CHIEF TO SLOW UP PASSING SCHOOLS

Chief of Police Webber on Friday issued warning to drivers of motor vehicles to slow up when passing schoolhouses in the city. "There is a sign near the curb that warns motorists to slow down to 10 miles an hour when they pass a schoolhouse," said the chief. "The sign means just what it says. Autoists should slow down whether school is in session or not; it is not up to them to use their own discretion as to slowing up. The greatest flagrancy in this regard occurs at the Washburn school. Cars are being driven entirely too fast on Main and State streets and some of the drivers pass the school with a roar. The policemen are trying to warn drivers that they must drive slowly. We can't get around to all of them. If they persist in violating the law we will have to start a campaign that will land a good many drivers in court."

OFFER FOR MUSCLE SHOALS PLAN STILL STANDS SAYS FORD

Sees No Reason Why Another Offer Should be Made After Sale of Gorgas Plant

DETROIT, Mich.—Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals still stands as made and the automobile manufacturer sees no reason why another offer should be made since the sale of the Gorgas power plant to the Alabama Power company recently. This was made plain in a statement issued by Mr. Ford Thursday night, his first public statement on the subject since the sale of the Gorgas plant.

"The Ford Motor company never has needed Muscle Shoals," the statement said. "We have water-power sufficient for all our purposes. The only thing I could do at Muscle Shoals which I am not able to do elsewhere would be to make fertilizer for the farmer. And that is the sole reason why Secretary of War John W. Weeks and scores of corporation lawyers have exercised their cunning to prevent me."

Regarding his offer for the plant, Mr. Ford says the offer still stands and he will not withdraw it. He asserts that if he gets Muscle Shoals he will run power lines for 200 miles in every direction. "We have been working," he continued, "and have learned how to send power long distances without leakage."

JUNKMAN TAXED ON PERSONALTY MORE'N JOHN D.

Man Who Pays Highest Personal Tax in Gotham Touring Europe

JUNKMAN ON BIG SCALE COMES FROM MIDWEST

Inherited Big Fortune and it Bigger

(Special Dispatch to the Tribune)

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Eli Joseph, the junk dealer who is listed by the assessors as the man who owns more personal property than anyone else in the world, is the hardest man in the world to trace. Possessed of $3,000,000 of pictures, jewelry and other belongings—two millions more than John D. Rockefeller can boast—Eli Joseph is not to be found through telephone book, city directory or classified business list.

In fact, the New Yorker who has more valuable personal belongings than anyone else of all the city's millions, does not even live here. For two years he has been traveling through Europe. At present he is in Paris, where he went to consult medical specialists.

Hard to Find
Picked out—his attorney says "picked out"—by the board of assessors as the man who will be taxed highest next year for his personal possessions, Eli Joseph is practically unknown to the rank and file of his fellow citizens. His name appears twice in the telephone book. But the house on Madison avenue has been "temporarily disconnected" and the Plaza hotel informs you that "Mr. Joseph gave up his suite here about two years ago." In the business directory his name does not appear at all. You begin to think him a myth, until, by roundabout means, you discover that he has a business address at the Woolworth building. You call up this address. And you don't get an answer.

Determined to run down the mystery of the $3,000,000 invisible, you go over to the Woolworth building and look under the "J's on the office directory." "Joseph" is the nearest you get to Joseph. You ask the elevator man. "Oh, yes, Mr. Eli Joseph had an office here which he gave up perhaps five or seven years ago."

"Well, but for mercy's sake"—you protest frantically. A man with $3,000,000 worth of personal property must live somewhere. He must have business representatives. A lawyer—

Makes Him Sore

So at last your path ends before the door of Norman Kernwood's office in the Woolworth Tower. And here you learn that far from being flattered at the thought of his selection as the richest personal-property owner in New York city, Mr. Eli Joseph does not like the idea at all. His attorney, in fact, says it is both "ridiculous and outrageous" to appraise the Joseph effects at $3,000,000.

This, however, is a matter between the attorney and the assessors. The thing of immediate importance is the assurance that not only does Eli Joseph exist, but he has actually been seen by human eye in and around New York.

It is dramatic enough to call him a junk dealer. The thought of a junk dealer amassing $3,000,000 worth of personal effects strikes the imagination in a two-fold way. And it's true. Mr. Joseph was a junk dealer—inherited the business and some millions of dollars from his father. During the war he sold scrap iron and steel to Italy, reaping millions more. And if a man who buys up all the scrapped rails of a railroad system at one lick, is a junk man—then Eli Joseph is it.

Comes from Mid-West

For the rest, he is a splendidly built man of 46, with black hair and eyes and a small dark moustache. His shoulders are broad, his height about five feet eight. His manner is affable, his clothes fashionable but not fussy, and his birthplace was Cincinnati.

How, and it is the natural query, does a man who comes from sorting scrap iron find such an interest in art? The world by now knows that most of the $3,000,000 appraisal by the assessors is on a stupendous collection of paintings by old masters, now stored in the Madison avenue house. These include pictures from the brushes of Correggio, Veronese and Cortez.

The exact truth knocks a bit of the drama out of the situation. Mr. Joseph inherited an artistic taste with the million or so which he inherited from his father and he cultivated that taste at Harvard. He speaks, by the way, five languages.

Knighted by Italy

During the war, Joseph served on the scrap iron and steel committee of the war industry board; he was knighted by the king of Italy for the dispatch with which he shipped steel, and he equipped at a cost to himself of $100,000, some two thousand volunteer firemen to take the place of the regular firemen who joined the army.

AUTUMN TIME

The barefoot boy is still at play so pleasant is October's day. But blackened leaf and withered vine betoken it is autumn time. Brave flowers in the garden bloom with which I gladden every room before they gather hoary rime betokening the autumn time. The birds still sing from out the trees. But leaves are falling with each breeze; The wondrous colors of our chime betoken it is autumn time. FORA E. LOWRY.

CAN'T AFFORD BEING

COP, TURNS IN STAR

NEW YORK.—Somewhat sadly, Patrolman Walter L. Lynch turned in the upkeep. He whispered wearily. "It's too expensive to be a cop."

Lynch is going back to steamfitting. He has been a patrolman for six months now, at an average weekly wage of $37. As a steamfitter he earns $14 a day. As a policeman his equipment cost him a total of $194.50.

"I went $240 in debt," he said sadly. "I like being a cop, but I cannot afford it."

FIRELESS Gas Range

COOKS with the GAS TURNED OFF!

Remarkable Cooking Tests

To be made on the Chambers Range in our store this week

Tomorrow, Saturday

- 11:00 A. M.—A 5-pound beef roast goes into the Chambers oven in our store and the gas lighted.
- 11:30 A. M.—The gas will be turned off and the roast will keep on cooking fireless.
- 1:30 P. M.—The roast perfectly cooked will be taken out and carved.
- 10:00 A. M.—A cake will be put in the oven, the gas will be turned off at 10:10 A. M. and at 10:25 the cake will be taken out for the inspection of all.
- 10:30 A. M.—Three vegetables will be put under the hood. The gas will be turned off 10 minutes after it is lighted and the vegetables will finish cooking fireless.

For the above tests less than one quarter of the gas required in the ordinary gas range will be used, as the oven burners consume only half as much gas when burning as others do, and consume nothing when cooking fireless.

LABOR FEDERATION HITS WOBBLES AS
MENACE TO NATION

Claim Made that Big Employers are Furnishing Money for I. W. W.

PORTLAND, Ore.—I. W. W.ism was branded as a menace to the United States Thursday by the American Federation of Labor convention.

Andrew Furuseth, international head of the Seamen's union, said it was impossible for the I. W. W. to secure funds from its own membership. He declared big employers are furnishing the "wobblies" with funds to carry on the work of destruction among the workers.

The federation also reaffirmed its former position that locals of international unions are not compelled to affiliate with city or state federations of labor. Delegate Fox of the Wyoming State Federation, asked that this be ordered.

Mahon Charges Politics
William D. Mahon, international president of the street car men's union, said many central organizations had created trouble for international unions. He asserted this was accomplished through the central bodies dabbling in politics.

The labor delegates voted to change the date for national conventions during presidential election years from the first Monday in October to the third Monday in November. The change was made to enable labor officials to participate in presidential political campaigns.

United States Senators James Watson of Indiana and Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama were criticized by the delegations from those states. The senators were accused of being antagonistic to the workers.

The Alabama delegation is seeking the next convention for Birmingham to create labor sentiment against the presidential candidacy of Senator Underwood.

SEE RE-ELECTION OF GOMPERS AS
CHIEF OF LABOR

PORTLAND, Ore.—By The Associated Press.—The election of officers and selection of the next convention city was the principal business of the convention of the American Federation of Labor when it resumed here Friday morning. El Paso and Detroit were the principal contenders for the next convention.

President Samuel Gompers, who has headed the federation since its organization in 1881, except during one year, was declared by delegates generally to be certain of re-election.

NATIONAL MEN AND AFFAIRS

BY ROBERT T. SMALL
(Special Correspondent of the Tribune)
Copyright, 1923

NEW YORK.—David Lloyd George who set foot upon American soil for the first time on Friday, knows more about the world war than any other man, living or dead. Lloyd George not only knew the politics and the economics and the diplomacy of the war, but he knew all about the actual fighting. In this respect he differed wholly from Woodrow Wilson.

The contemporaneous addresses of the two men, to congress on the part of Mr. Wilson and to parliament on the part of Mr. George, form an interesting comparison. From the moment the United States entered the war, President Wilson began talking about the bases of the peace. His fourteen points soon were enunciated. During most of this time, Great Britain was fighting with her back to the wall. The British people did not want to know about the bases of the peace. They wanted to know how the battles were going on the western front.

A Military Expert
It was given to Lloyd George to tell them, and his analyses of the military situation were master pieces. They showed the British premier to be a man of many sides. His was no academic view of war. He knew the fighting from personal contact with it. Many military experts were made by the war. Some historians also came into national, if not world favor. But none of these could quite compare with Mr. Lloyd George when he sat down to pen the situation for the British people.

Lloyd George was brave. He did not attempt to minimize British losses at the front. One of his statements showed that in the single month of May, 1918, the British casualty list was as heavy as the entire losses of the American army proved to be in the end. But throughout the Lloyd George recitals of fact there breathed the native optimism and hopefulness of the man. His addresses to parliament were a gift of God to the English. They kept their spirit alive, their morale backed up. When things were darkest, Lloyd George would take the rostrum and he never spoke in vain. His addresses, cabled to this country, had much the same effect as they did in England.

Loved the Front
The actual fighting of the war never interested Woodrow Wilson. If he held Lloyd George enthralled, President Wilson was not intrigued by the training camps or the munition works. Mr. Wilson felt nothing of the material side of the war. Lloyd George reveled in it.

The most famous statement made by Lloyd George was that the war would be a "knockout" for Germany. It was a strange turn of fate that as he was received at the city hall there were hawkers in the outskirts of the crowd crying:
"One million German marks for twenty-five cents."

Paulowa, the Russian dancer, just back from Europe, thinks she sees the decline of jazz in the offing. Paul Whitman, the jazz bandmaster, just back from Europe, is certain that jazz is in its infancy and has before it many triumphs yet to come. One is inclined to believe Paul. Especially when he coupled his optimistic statement with the admission that he now has fifty-two bands in operation.

Whitman was made an honorary member of New York's famous Dutch Treat club this week and he brought his own personal band along with him. It was the same band that played so often for the prince of Wales while on the other side, and take it from the trombone and saxophone players, the prince is certainly some dancer.

"I get some awful wallopers from the true 'music lovers' every now and then for jazzing the classics," said Whitman to the writer. "But I believe we are right. If we can bring the classics to the people, even in the form of dance music, I believe we are cultivating the taste of many who could be reached in no other way. Take the Song of India for instance. Since it has been played by the dance orchestras I venture to say, the sale of the original song has been doubled or tripled. After they hear the real thing, they may say how rotten we played it, but anyway we got it over. And that's our justification."

The rumpus out in Oklahoma stirred up many things, but not the least was the stirring up of the Hon. "Bill" Sulzer, one time known as the "Henry Clay" of the house of representatives in Washington, and later the governor of the sovereign state of New York until his resignation as the legislature was meeting to take action against him. Some of the papers here had the temerity to draw an analogy between Governor Walton's case and that of Governor Sulzer. The Hon. Bill had long been in retirement, but this was too much for him. He sallied forth and this is what he had to say:
"As several newspapers have called attention to the supposed analogy of Governor Walton's case in Oklahoma and my case in New York, will you be good enough to say, for me that there is no analogy.

Wouldn't Use Guards
"At a conference at the executive mansion in Albany the evening of August 9, 1913, my friends advised me to sign a proclamation declaring martial law in Albany county and instruct the militia to disperse the assembly because it was about to meet in violation of the constitution of the state.

"Suffice it to say that I refused to sign such a proclamation and said then and repeat now: 'No man is a greater believer than I am in the supremacy of the law. No man, high or low, rich or poor, is above the law, no matter what he thinks are his rights or what he believes to be his grievances. No man must take the law in his own hands. Sooner than sign that proclamation declaring martial law to save my office I will sacrifice the governorship, on the principle that the law is supreme and every man must bow to its supremacy.'

"The fact that I was advised the assembly was to do an unlawful act was no reason why I should take the law in my own hands. If I had to go through now what I did go through in 1913 I would do today just what I did then—submit to the civil authorities."

ASKS CO-OPERATION IN DEALING WITH DELINQUENT CHILD

Courts, School Authorities and Public Officials Should Unite to Guard Welfare of Child

OSHKOSH, Wis.—By The Associated Press.—Courts, school authorities and public officials should co-operate in dealing with the problem created by the delinquent child so that the cases may be determined in the interest of the child. Judge A. C. Backus of Milwaukee Municipal Court declared in an address before the Northeastern Wisconsin Educational Association convention here.

"The best qualified men and women coming from the highest courts in the community, with all the powers of courts of chancery, unlimited in their jurisdiction, surrounded by the teachers, social workers and prohibition officers, medical men and experts, should constitute this most important tribunal," Judge Backus said.

"In many cases we are dealing with the liberties of children, with their adoption, with their future welfare, and with the parents. A court of original jurisdiction can function better in every way without being hampered and restricted in its powers and decisions. This work in a large measure is purely a judicial function and under the constitution cannot be delegated to any other agency.

"The juvenile courts are now charged with taking care of the delinquent, neglected and delinquent children. Delinquency is a dangerous disease to the young; it drags into the mire untold thousands of children. The teachers, social workers, doctors and judges must co-operate and root out this terrible disease long before the children reach the courts. In this class of work, preventive measures are the best deterrent.

"We meet many children in every walk of life who need advice; there are thousands who need medical attention, thousands who are physically and mentally weak and unfit. The American child means more to the nation than any of its other assets. We need more preventive work, more constructional and recreational centers, more medical attention, more extensive research. It is as necessary in the schools to promote bodily health and vigor as it is to promote intellectual welfare."

PEASANT SKILL
Peasant embroidery is seen on many of the wool suits as well as on heavy coats on serge designed for service.

COACH KEELER'S ELEVEN ALL SET FOR LAWRENCE BATTLE

LAWRENCE ELEVEN WAS EXPECTED TO ARRIVE AT NOON

Field to be Turned Over to Invaders for Practice at Five O'clock

STUDENT RESIDENCE SECTION IS ALIVE WITH DECORATIONS

Game to Start at Three O'clock at Normal Field

WITH two weeks of strenuous training back to them, the La Crosse normal and Lawrence college football teams were tonight all set for the biggest game in the history of the normal gridiron program the first annual Homecoming.

Colors of the respective schools, Maroon and Gray for La Crosse, and Blue and White for Lawrence, were much in evidence in the student residence section of the city, downtown store windows exhibited displays attracting football fans and the normal campus was bubbling with enthusiasm on the eve of the classic gridiron battle at Normal field Saturday afternoon.

Arrive at Noon

The invading Lawrence eleven was expected to arrive in the city about noon, making the trip here in automobiles.

The teams will be on the field Saturday ready for battle promptly at 3 o'clock, the time having been set back to that time to accommodate baseball fans who have been watching the world series on the Tribune's Playograph.

Coach Keeler's men are eager to be up and at the Lawrence team and are so full of pep and fight that the coming battle looks as though it were going to be one of the best ever played in this city.

The normal team was to hold secret practice at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The field will be turned over to the Lawrence squad for practice at 5 o'clock.

Dosen to Referee

Officials of the game will be Ivan Dosen, referee. He is a graduate of Chicago, and played tackle on the Northwestern eleven. Dosen is a coach at Luther college, Kirkwood, director of physical education at St. Paul, will act as umpire. Dr. McGovern, who played with Northwestern, will be head linesman. Alexius Koller, of the University of North Dakota, will be field judge.

Others that will probably play during the game are: Torrens and Clark, halfbacks; Friedl and Jorgenson, ends; Wheaton, guard; Reynolds, fullback; Thompson, quarterback; Blatter, tackle; and Brandt and Borgstrom.

Coach "Tubby" Keeler stated: "The Lawrence team has a reputation for being a good fighting team. It's going to be a good game. We have one of the scrappiest little teams that ever played. Whether we win, lose or draw we are going into the game with fight and it will be a good game."

The most important element in perfume is musk, which comes from the musk of deer of Siberia, Tibet and China.

The First Homecoming-- Let's Put It Over Big

The alumni of the school attending the game tomorrow afternoon are asked to meet at the school at 1:30 o'clock and to march over to the field with the student body. The procession will be led by the school band.

The big bonfire near the Normal campus will be lighted at seven o'clock this evening. Bob Hodge and Norman Schultz will conduct the pep rally that will be held about it. As soon as the fire grows low a parade will be formed and will "tour" the main streets of the city. A theater rush will be in order at nine o'clock.

Question: Where did Buddy Reynolds get the hose that he has been wearing at practice for the past three days? They are white and evidently once belonged to some fair-haired. Is there a secret sorrow in his life, or has he been over to the La Crosse hospital again?

Girls are tobaccoed in the Hoho parade on Saturday morning. However, the boys of the school have promised to "carry on." The parade will be good in spite of the lack of the gentler sex.

Dr. Carl B. Sputh is here! He is both a disappointment and a charming surprise. All phy. ed. girls were anxiously awaiting to see the old man that had founded the department. They expected a man with a grey beard and grey bushy eye brows and a wild mop of grey hair. Imagine their surprise when a young man of medium height and build with dark brown wavy hair combed in pompadour style, snappy brown eyes that are shielded by a pair of shell rim glasses, was Dr. Sputh. He has a very determined mouth and a most bewitching smile. He is the idol of every phy. ed. in school now.

We wonder what Captain Ralph Mattison has up his sleeve. He has been wearing the sneakiest smile on his face for the past several days. We hope it predicts a victory tomorrow.

The committee helping Miss Lenore Thompson with the decorations for homecoming are as follows: Helen Cremer, Edith and Catherine Skall, Dolores Cremer, Robert Westfall, Thomas Murphy, Arthur Krager, Walter Fisher, Esther Gerling, Helen Kinzie, Dorothy Heitman, Avis Horton, Gunvor Skaar, Lorraine Olle, Anne Rodcup, and Mikled Welland.

"Julie" Kevin is wearing an almost black eye, still he was able to give a speech last evening at the Phy. Ed. banquet. No, he hasn't contracted the palsy, his hands shook because he wanted them to.

Houses along State street are beginning to spruce up. Maroon and grey, and blue and white are decking the houses in grand style. Competition is being evidenced by the members of the different houses.

We want to congratulate Miss Bessie Bell Hutchison on her splendid work for the homecoming event. She has loads of pep and the ability to use it in the right way.

Elaborate plans are being made for the mixer tomorrow evening in the large gymnasium at eight o'clock. The alumni members are urged to be there. Alumni members are also asked to remember to register tomorrow morning at ten o'clock at the school.

A program of stunts will commence at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon on the Normal football field. The various couples of the school are presenting the stunts.

Spectators at the game tomorrow are asked to keep off the field. Policemen will be stationed as guards. Every effort will be made to keep the field clear until the game has started.

"LICK LAWRENCE" is the slogan of the day. If you haven't a sign on your car yet, get one, and show the school that you are with them in their big fight.

We want to congratulate the men of the Normal football squad on the splendid work they have been doing. We want you to go into that game tomorrow with every ounce of fight you possess and to use that fight as you never did before. We know you can put it over. Here's to you all and to the defeat of the Lawrence eleven.

Director Robert Nohr, Jr., warned the students to pray for the game on Saturday. To pray that it wouldn't rain, but that if it did have to rain it would rain at least a tenth of an inch so that the insurance could be collected.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Pinkie Mitchell of Milwaukee outpointed Joe Simonich of Butte, Mont., in a ten round bout here last night. Simonich was substituting for Sailor Friedman

CONFERENCE TEAMS COMPLETE WEEK OF STRENUOUS WORK

Indiana Ready for Northwestern and Iowa Faces Purdue Eleven

JACK WILCE PRIMED FOR FORWARD PASS ATTACK

Badger Casuals Return to Practice

CHICAGO, Ill. — A week of strenuous training completed, four Big Ten football teams Friday awaited the whistle that will send them against each other Saturday while five other teams were ready to face non-conference elevens.

Indiana, which got off to a bad start last week by losing to De Pauw wound up its preparation for Northwestern by holding one of the longest scrimmages of the season. Northwestern will take thirty men to Bloomington.

Iowa, which faces Purdue, devoted its final practice to line offensive preparations. Several changes in the line-up were made by Coach Jones in final drill. Fleckenstein playing left tackle with Schirmer moving in at half and McIntyre continuing at guard. Purdue invaded the Hawkeye camp with twenty-nine men.

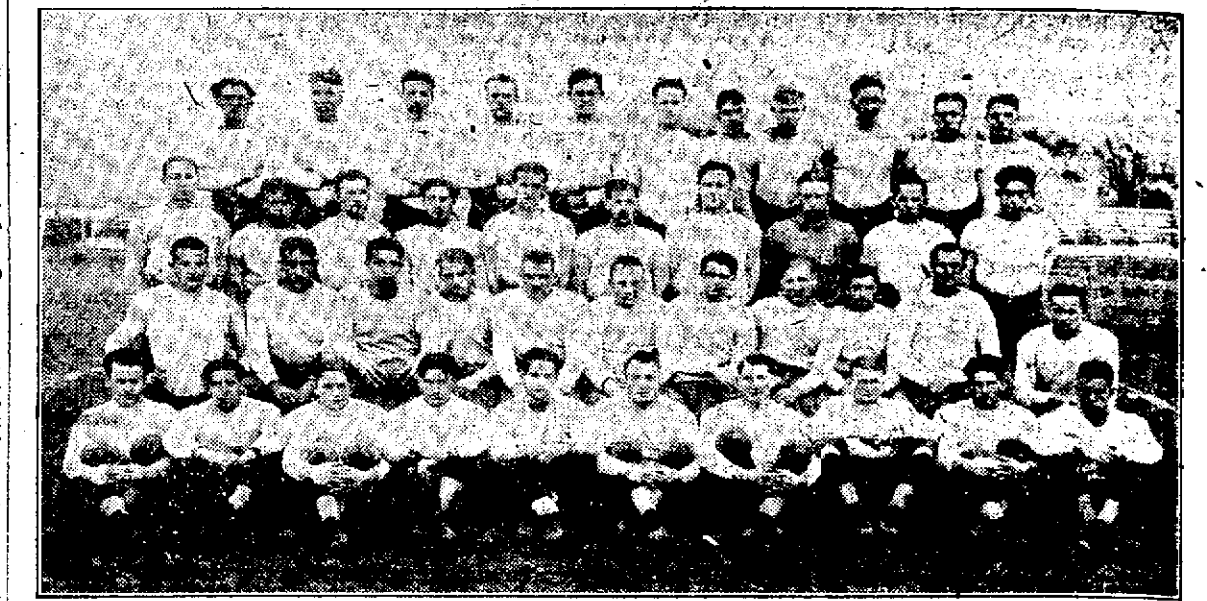

Judging from the week's preparation of Ohio State to meet Colgate, the Buckeyes expect to win by a rapid-fire series of forward passes interspersed with end runs. This sort of play consumed all of the final practice session.

Michigan prepared to fight the anticipated forward passing of Vanderbilt by putting into effect a new series of plays for emergency use if the southerners get too strong. The Wolverine plan of defensive against the forward pass consumed most of the last rehearsal.

Wisconsin, preparing for the Michigan Aggies gained confidence during the week with the return to the lineup of several men who had been on the casualty list.

The Illini will face Butler, which is

CUBS MAKE IT TWO STRAIGHT OVER WHITE SOX

CHICAGO.—The National League made it two straight over the Americans in the Chicago city series on Thursday when the Cubs won the second game from the Sox, 4 to 3.

Vic Aldridge pitched tight ball and was afforded brilliant support for seven innings, but after yielding two runs in the eighth and passing Moss, first up in the ninth, he was removed in favor of Fussell. Hollis Thurston tolled the route for the Sox and was hit hard in spots.

The Cubs scored in the first inning. Score: R H E Cubs.....100 201 000—4 10 1 White Sox.....000 000 120—3 10 3 Batteries—Aldridge, Fussell and Hartnett; Thurston and Schalk, Crouse.

LA CROSSE NELSONS GETTING SET FOR ST. PAUL GAME SUNDAY

TICKETS GOING AT RAPID PACE REPORT OFFICIALS TODAY

Both Bleachers to be Sold Out in Advanced Seat Sale Campaign

ST. PAUL TRIMS UNION GIANTS AT CHIPPEWA

Record Crowd Will Be Out for the Game

AN unprecedented scramble for pastboards admitting to the La Crosse Nelsons, St. Paul till at Copeland park Sunday, the best attraction La Crosse has ever seen, indicates that the stands in the north side park will be jammed to capacity Sunday.

Both in La Crosse and in the neighboring towns and villages, tickets have been snapped up so rapidly that the local management has decided to include both bleachers in the advance seat sale campaign. A full representation from out of town will be here. The association club won from Gillerson's Union Giants at Chippewa Falls Wednesday, 3 to 2. Harvey's wildness being a factor in the defeat. The St. Paul lineup against the Giants included Christianson, Borchgrevink, Koenig, Elger, Dreissner, Gonzales, Berk, Markle and Hans.

McCauley is expected to be in good condition for the big battle. It will be an excellent opportunity for fans to see Mac in action against the big stuff, and going right, he should give the invaders some trouble.

"Duke" McCall will be lost to the local team Sunday, he having returned to his home in Chicago. "Curly" Fiske will no doubt occupy center-field.

NO SCRIMMAGE FOR YOST'S TEAM ALL THIS WEEK

Meets Vanderbilt Without Hard Test Since Clash With Case

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Although Michigan's need for scrimmage practice seemed apparent at the beginning of the week, Coach Yost decided to eliminate rough work and consequent injury to the team without Vanderbilt Saturday with a single hard test since the Case game. The team yesterday spent the time forming interference, practicing passing and tackling and finally went on the field for secret practice and trying out new plays.

The men have been drilled during the week breaking up the reported strong offensive plays of the southerners, dished up by the reserves.

The line-up Saturday is expected to be much the same as against Case, with Slaughter at guard and Melsch at end as the only contemplated changes.

The Vanderbilt team, accompanied by about 800 rooters, is expected to arrive here today.

LEFTY GROVES HURLS ORIOLES TO VICTORY OVER KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY—These slugging Blue met their master on Thursday. They failed in their attack on Lefty Groves, one of the two big winners of the Baltimore Orioles slug for 1922, and were defeated, 3 to 1, the Maryland Bird evening up the series in the second battle for the championship of the minor leagues before 14,658 cash customers at Muehlbach field.

The tall, gangling southpaw was the hero of a well played ball game. He started out so poorly in the first inning when he walked three men, displaying a weakness that has marred his pitching at times through the championship season in the International League, that Manager Jack Dunn rushed two pitchers to the "bull pen" to warm up to be ready to relieve him and stave off defeat.

Then he lathered up and from that time to the end of the game he hurled a brand of baseball as any outpaw has displayed in Muehlbach field this year. He struck out nine.

Batteries—Groves and Cobb; Caldwell and Skiff.

LA CROSSE NORMAL CLAIMS YOUNGEST FOOTBALL PLAYER IN CAPTAIN RALPH MATTISON

WITHIN our midst for the past two years we have probably had the youngest collegiate football man that ever played. That man is Captain Ralph Mattison of the La Crosse Normal commonly known as "Matty."

"Matty" is only 19 years old and he has to wait until next September before he becomes twenty. Matty started at collegiate football in the local school when he was 17 years young.

Coach "Tubby" Keeler when questioned stated that he was one of the dumbest looking specimens of a football man that he had ever seen. So "Matty" commenced playing sub on the third team. He made his letter in football that year in spite of his awkward start.

Last year he made an enviable record for himself in his playing at the guard position. There's no getting around it, "Matty" is one of the best guards that has ever touched a ball at the local school. Injuries prevented him from playing in all events last year, but his record was an enviable one in spite of this.

At the conclusion of the grid season last year Ralph was elected captain of this year's team. As a captain he has no equal. "Matty" has a magnetic personality that makes him well-liked by every man that comes out on the field. "Matty" is perhaps the youngest captain that ever led a team.

La Crosse is proud to claim "Matty" as one of the youngest collegiate football men in the state and nation. The capable tutelage of Coach "Tubby" Keeler has rounded more than one man into shape on the Normal field. "Tubby" has been here for the past eight years and has seen football men come and go. Still he bets that "Matty" is one of the best that the school ever turned out.

"Tubby" has a record as a guard and tackle that he made at the University of Wisconsin that will not easily be forgotten. He played in '12, '13, and was captain in '14. Cub Buck coach of the Lawrence college played with "Tubby" at the "U." He played in '13, '14, and was captain of the varsity eleven in '15.

Both men are anxious to see their teams in action here tomorrow. Athletic director Arthur Denny of Lawrence was a student of "Tubby's" and is a graduate of the local school.

La Crosse fans are interested in the work of Ervin Gerber, former Y. M. C. A. physical director and normal school athlete, who will appear in the lineup at right tackle. "Gerby" and his running mate, Capt. Marty Below, are towers of strength in the Wisconsin line, both on offensive and defensive play. "Gerby's" work is attracting a lot of favorable attention and his name is already a by-word on the campus.

Coach Ryan stands for rigid discipline and adherence to training rules, as evidenced by his action in ordering

HITTING SHADES WORK OF HURLERS IN SERIES

Yanks Believed to Win Confidence With Win Thursday

NEW YORK.—By The Associated Press.—Pitchers, always looked upon as the prime factors in contests between leading baseball teams, have been relatively unimportant in the present world's series between the New York Giants and the New York Yankees. Like clay-bird traps, they have been but shooters of targets for squads of marksmen, and to the marksmen has gone the glory.

Games Even.—The series stands all even, Giants and Yankees each having won a game. In the first tilt Casey Stengel of Missouri was the master marksman, his homer in the ninth inning winning the game for the Giants five to four. Casey now must bow to Babe Ruth, whose two homers Thursday provided the winning margin for the Yankees, four to two. Ruth's first blow caught on the end of his great war club, sailed clear over the stands of the Polo grounds. The second, a terrific low flying line drive, sent the ball into the lower right field grandstand and shattered the woodenarrist of the seat.

Compared to such stick-work the excellent pitching of Ryan for the Giants and Duff for the Yankees in the first game and that of Herb Pennock for the Yankees in Thursday's contest sinks into the shadows. There yet may be an old-fashioned pitcher's duel in the series, but with the heavy hitters in form the possibility is remote.

Ruth is the axis about which the Yankee sphere revolves. When Ruth is Ruth the thing turns perfectly. And Ruth was Ruth Thursday. Whatever confidence the Yankees may have lost in 1922 when they were turned to defeat by the Giants without a single victory, during the hit a man who manages them, believes they regained Thursday through Ruth's performance.

Nehr and Jones.—In the third game Friday McGraw probably will send Arthur Nehr to pitch his first game and was thought to be the first choice Thursday but McGraw, always doing the unexpected, decided to hold him until a game was needed. John Scott is next in line after Nehr. Huggins is expected to call Sam Jones for pitching duty Friday. Jones has been taking things easy and is said to be in good shape. Next in Sam Huggins has Bob Shawkey in trim.

The probable line-up Friday: YANKS.—W. D. Brown, 4b; Ruth, 1b; R. Meusel, 1b; Pipp, 1b; Schang, c; Scott, ss; Jones or Shawkey, p. GIANTS.—Bancroft, ss; Groh, 2b; Frisch, 2b; Young, 1b; E. ## BADGERS IMPROVE SINCE GAME WITH COE SATURDAY; GERBER TOWER OF STRENGTH IN LINE

MADISON, Wis.—Special.—The ghost ball is working overtime at Camp Randall these days as Jack Ryan drills his university of Wisconsin pigskin elaters in preparation for the game with the Michigan Aggies on Saturday, the last preliminary game before the opening of the conference season at Indiana on Oct. 20. The Badgers have improved greatly since their game with Coe last Saturday, which they won by the narrow margin of 7 to 3. Though Coe had an exceptionally powerful eleven, the Wisconsin aggregation was ragged and showed weakness and lack of spirit in all departments.

The morale of the squad has improved greatly in the past week, and the players now snap into their scrimmages with a lot more pep than they heretofore displayed. Injuries still keep Taft, fullback whose defensive work and feisty punting toe are being counted on as an asset to the team, out of scrimmage, but Ryan announced Thursday night that he hoped to be able to use Taft in the game Saturday. Nelson, regular end, is still out with an injured leg, but he or Sanderson is mentioned as the choice for right end. Russ Irish will be in shape for the other end. He has been going good for the past few days.

Endburger will start the game at quarterback, with Holmes and Harris, halfbacks. Teckmeyer, husky Madison south, whose work at center has clinched his place on the squad, will be in the pivot position with Blaberstein at left guard and McCormick in right guard.

La Crosse fans are interested in the work of Ervin Gerber, former Y. M. C. A. physical director and normal school athlete, who will appear in the lineup at right tackle. "Gerby" and his running mate, Capt. Marty Below, are towers of strength in the Wisconsin line, both on offensive and defensive play. "Gerby's" work is attracting a lot of favorable attention and his name is already a by-word on the campus.

Coach Ryan stands for rigid discipline and adherence to training rules, as evidenced by his action in ordering

PEACE RESTS WITH U. S. AND ENGLAND SAYS LLOYD GEORGE

Urges Understanding Between Two Nations to Prevent Future Wars

ON BOARD LLOYD GEORGE'S SPECIAL TRAIN, ST. CATHERINES, Ont.—By The Associated Press.—If the United States and Great Britain can reach an understanding that both stand for a national peace, there will be peace in the world, former Prime Minister Lloyd George asserted Thursday while enroute for Niagara Falls.

Without such an understanding, he added, there will be no peace.

Could Assure Peace

No country, Mr. Lloyd George said, could withstand such a union of forces for peace which, he added, could be assured without the firing of a gun.

Mr. Lloyd George was greeted by large audiences both here and at Hamilton, on his way to the falls.

GOTHAM MARRIAGES AT STANDSTILL, BUT DIVORCES INCREASE

NEW YORK.—Marriages in New York state have not increased very much since 1916, but there has been a noticeable increase in the number of divorces. During 1922 there were 97,468 marriages performed, compared to 97,454 for 1916, the last year for which these statistics were collected. In 1922 there were 4,238 divorces granted, compared to 3,260 for 1916.

BUILDS GUILLOTINE FOR OWN EXECUTION

PARIS.—Isidore Hespel, familiarly known as "The Jackal," official executioner of the French penal settlement at Cayenne, French Guiana, is soon to be guillotined himself.

As he has a very poor opinion of the skill of the executioner who succeeded him, he has asked to be allowed to erect the guillotine himself for his own execution.

Hespel was appointed executioner after serving a long term of penal servitude. Recently he quarreled with a convict and killed him in a fight.

Jeske is one of three who were together when the alleged offense was committed, and were traced by local authorities through the ownership of a bulldog.

ANSWERS HOUSEWIFE'S REQUIREMENTS NICELY

There has come in recent years a greater appreciation on the part of housewives of the importance of pure food. Articles in magazines, study of the food subject in women's clubs, lectures by domestic scientists, pure food shows—all these have aided in effecting this desirable result. And with this growing understanding of pure food selection and sanitary preparation, has come a better appreciation of the value of Jelke GOOD LUCK Margarine to the housewife; for no product can better answer the requirements of housewives in respect to purity.

GOOD LUCK is made from ingredients of so notably fine a quality as to please the most fastidious. The methods employed throughout the factory in its preparation, as well as those used in marketing it, are likewise sanitary.

On the score of purity, therefore, GOOD LUCK measures up in excellent fashion to the requirements and training of the modern day housewife. It is, in fact, an ideal food for the woman who is bent on protection of the health and welfare of her household through the care she exercises in the choice of pure food. But there is also another feature in connection with GOOD LUCK that makes its purchase desirable.

All living costs are admittedly high. Next to rent, food bills are the largest single item on the family budget, and take a large slice of anyone's income, no matter how large that income may be. The larger the family the more serious is the problem of high food costs. Here again GOOD LUCK with its modest cost is a relief.

Due in part to large scale production and to modern methods, and in part to the fact that more abundant, and therefore less costly but equally nutritious, fats are used in its manufacture GOOD LUCK is remarkably low in price, and by using it the housewife makes a decided saving. To take advantage of GOOD LUCK, therefore, is to find a welcome friend with which to cut the cost of good eating. The response of Jelke GOOD LUCK Margarine to the call of modern living conditions makes it the logical choice of any woman for a spread for bread upon her dining table and as a shortening in her kitchen.

Through arrangements made with retail food dealers in every part of the country it is possible for the housewife to find GOOD LUCK for sale—while strictly fresh—conveniently near her home. In buying it she has assurance of a food of undoubted purity and high excellence at a low price.—Advertisements.

'THE WOMAN WITH FOUR FACES'

The spectator who fails to register suspense on seeing "The Woman With Four Faces," which is being presented at the Rivoli theater this week, is lacking in responsiveness. That is the belief of all patrons of the Rivoli theater who have seen this charming picture featuring Betty Compson and Richard Dix in the leading roles. Thrill after thrill develops as the story is reeled off. It was adapted by George Hopkins from a story by Bayard Veiller, and the latter has a record for tense dramas teeming with action and with a strong vein of mystery, as witness "The Thirteenth Chair," and other notable plays. Betty Compson is ideal in the role of the girl crook employed by a district attorney to help him in a great campaign against a crying evil of the day.

"FIRST DEGREE" Frank Mayo reveals himself as an actor of hitherto unmeasured emotion, at depth in "The First Degree," showing at the Majestic theater. His casting in this dramatic role is a gratification to those who have long believed this actor capable of things above the burly outdoor types he has usually played. Sylvia Breamer is the leading woman and Edward Sedgwick directed. The story is George Pattullo's, scenarized by George Randolph Chester.

"BURN 'EM UP BARNES" An excellent farce-comedy with lightning-like action and genuine comedy situations, a great many of which are original, brings Johnny Hines to the Riviera tonight. It contains also some thrilling melodramatic situations, most of them being caused by automobile racing. The supporting cast is excellent. This includes such well known actors as George Hawcutt and Edmund Breese, who, as hoboes, contribute greatly to the picture's entertaining values. It is the story of a young hero, son of a wealthy automobile manufacturer, who is scolded by his father for not attending to business. He leaves home to make good. The remainder of the story deals with how he, with a hobo partner, reaches a little town, how he falls in love with a girl, and how he convinces her father.

er that he will make a good husband for his daughter.

BULGARIA DECLARES SOVIET RED CROSS CLOAKED ESPIONAGE

Claims Delegation Operated as Agent of Soviet and of Bulgarian Communists

SOFIA.—By The Associated Press.—What the ministry of the interior maintains to be evidence of the political and espionage activities of the Soviet Red Cross delegation, admitted to Bulgaria under the auspices of the instance of the league of nations, was given out here recently by the bureau of public safety, after investigation of the archives of the delegation.

The examination of the seized documents was carried on in the presence of Walter Collins of Great Britain, who was appointed to represent Dr. F. Nansen in Bulgaria in the repatriation of Russian refugees. The evidence adduced will be submitted to Dr. Nansen, in Geneva.

The documents show, as summarized by Vladimir Natcheff, director of public safety:

That the Russian Red Cross delegation operated both as a section of the Soviet mission in Bulgaria and of the communist party of Bulgaria, and that the parading of Russian refugees through the streets of Sofia under the red flag was designed to operate as communist demonstrations of strength.

That the delegation busied itself in military espionage, as is shown by the presence among its seized papers of detailed plans of Bulgarian barracks and fortifications.

One of the most striking discoveries among the effects of the Red Cross agents was a bomb, several revolvers, and two whips with iron handles, objects foreign to the mission of a Red Cross delegation, it is pointed out by the director of public safety.

A code, invisible link, and in general complete equipment for espionage activities, were disclosed in the presence of Dr. Nansen's representatives, Mr. Collins.

Evidence will also be submitted to Dr. Nansen from the archives to prove that a representative of the Bulgarian communist party, A. Nedelkoff, was attached to the Russian Red Cross as a liaison officer for political activities jointly between the Red Cross and the Bulgarian communist party.

In communicating its discoveries to the public, the ministry of the interior points out that there was only one course for the Bulgarian government to pursue after its realization of the course adopted by the Soviet Red Cross, and that was to put an end to its activities in Bulgaria.

A recent dispatch from Moscow said Russia had protested to Bulgaria against the "persecution" of the Russian Red Cross, and had threatened reprisals.

ELECTION OF WOMEN LEGISLATORS URGED BY CLUB CHAIRMAN

Only in that Way Can Women Obtain Inside Knowledge of Legislation Says Speaker

FOND DU LAC, Wis.—Women in Wisconsin "need a real inside knowledge of legislation by having women elected as senators and assemblymen," Mrs. Louis Kahlenberg, chairman of the legislative committee of the Wisconsin federation of women's clubs, declared in her report to the convention of that organization.

"Most women feel that there are laws enough," Mrs. Kahlenberg said. "We need rather better enforcement. We hope each club will study home conditions and do what they can to improve these conditions. At the last session 440 bills were passed, covering 933 changes in the form of amendments. 262 creating laws or parts of laws and 182 repeals.

"This same thing will happen every two years whether women are interested or not, so it is our duty as thinking women to use our influence and our votes for general advancement. We can do more real legislative work by seeing that the right kind of candidates are elected than by lobbying, but that does not mean that we should not lobby.

"Further, we need a real inside knowledge of legislation by having women elected as senators and assemblymen, but irrespective of party or sex, candidates should be elected who are honest, upright, intelligent and fearless."

EXPLODES ANCIENT THEORY THAT RED ENRAGES BULLS

Bovine Family Color Blind Declares Californian Investigator

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.—By The Associated Press.—Waving a red flag before a bull has no more significance than waving a pink, green, purple or white flag because bulls, in keeping with other animals, are color blind, according to Dr. G. M. Stratton, head of the department of psychology, University of California, Berkeley, Calif., who has just completed a six months' investigation of the subject.

Dr. Stratton and his assistants waved red flags in the faces of bulls and other animals, and the reaction was one of curiosity and not anger, he says. Black, white, green and yellow colors were tried, with the same effect. After trying cows, calves, steers and bulls, Dr. Stratton says he is sure that the entire bovine family is devoid of color sight.

His conclusions, Dr. Stratton says, lead him to believe that:

1. Bulls show no strong excitement over any color.
2. Interest, hesitation and mild mistrust were shown in a banner or any strange thing.
3. There was no recreation that could be discerned toward any particular color, but the brightness of the color and the flutter of the banner were more effective than the color.

4. There was no special reaction toward red as against green, or toward red and green as against black and white.
5. There was greater reaction and interest toward white than any other color, but the reaction in the wild animals was no greater than in the tame.

The investigators, Dr. Stratton said, interviewed 66 persons familiar with cattle, and 53 denied the popular theory that red angers bulls.

You Don't Serve Coffee By the Pound ~ ~

You serve it by the cup—So it's the cost cup for cup that counts.

You pay a few cents more for a pound of Thomas J. Webb Coffee but each cup you serve costs you less than a cup brewed from lower priced coffees

So much richer in flavor is Thomas J. Webb Coffee that a pound of it goes further—yields many more cups and far more flavor to each cup.

There's Real Economy in Using This Higher Quality Coffee

It Goes Further Because—
the following extraordinary precautions have been taken to make it a coffee of far greater flavor and richness—

It Is a Superior Blend— of the choicest and most expensive coffees grown—those known to contain the greatest amount of essential coffee oils—

Sealed in the Roasting—
It is roasted in the "Two Flame"—an original roasting process that quickly seals and holds all the flavor-giving oils in the coffee beans—thus preventing wastage—

Sealed in the Packing—
The roasted coffee itself is, in turn, packed and sealed in air-tight, moistureproof tins. This insures freshness of every precious particle, all the way down to the last coffee bean in the tin.

BUCKINGHAM PALACE CALLED A FIRETRAP BY BRITISH EXPERTS

Home of Royalty Declared Subject to Gravest Fire Risks in Commission Report

LONDON. — Buckingham Palace, home of King George and Queen Mary, is a firetrap, according to the gravest fire risks, according to revelations in an official report of a royal commission appointed to investigate fire prevention in England. The British public is alarmed at the possible danger to the royal family while in residence in the palace for a fire during one of the brilliant court night, when thousands of guests are at the palace, could easily result in a holocaust.

Though royalty itself may often be insignificant, royal residences rarely are, and Buckingham palace, as far as outward appearances go, is no exception. Each year thousands of tourists gaze in wonder and admiration on the imposing stone facade of the palace, one of the architectural sights of the British capital. Few of them know the palace front is a shell hiding an older building. It is like a beautifully decorated theater fire curtain which separates the people from the stage settings of a royal court.

Behind the noble palace front is a maze of royal reception rooms, banqueting halls and living quarters for the royal family, and its retinue of retainers, court officials and servants. These quarters are separated by inflammable partitions and linked by a labyrinth of drafty hallways and a net work of old fashioned electric wiring and heating installations.

Despite the fire risks, no English government buildings are even insured, no matter what may be their value or that of their contents. During the year ended December, 1920, the commission reports, 21 fires occurred in government buildings, eight of them being attributed to short circuits due to defects in old electrical installations.

Buckingham palace is only one of London's historic buildings open to fire risks because of the nature of its construction. Somerset house, depository of priceless documents, is another. This building is a source of great anxiety to the government, according to the report of the commission on fire prevention.

Many precautions are taken against fires in Buckingham palace, Somerset house, the Houses of Parliament and other government buildings. There are continual patrols of night watchmen, many of whom are trained firemen. Servants and officials of all classes receive instruction in the use of fire extinguishers. Government officials explain the lack of insurance by saying that many cases, such as the House of Parliament, it would be impossible to estimate their value for insurance purposes.

CONSERVATISM IS KEYNOTE OF LABOR IN A. F. OF L. MEET

Portland Session Reveals Unions in Partnership With Capital

RED AGITATION GETS QUICK, HARD TURN-DOWN

Not Only Gompers But Other Leaders "Safe and Sane"

By C. T. HOGE
(Special Dispatch to The Tribune)
Copyright, 1923

PORTLAND, Oregon.—Labor, the irresponsible tool, has been metamorphosed into labor, the partner of capital. Labor now manages banks and business and handles the problems formerly considered the divine right of Bosses. Labor has built up a sort of aristocracy of its own, snapping the black snake over those who would make the toiler a traitor.

Such is the conclusion to be drawn from speeches being delivered here daily at the convention of the American Federation of Labor, an amalgamation of those who toil with their hands. It is being preached in committee, in the lobby outside the great convention hall, in the hotels, on the floor. Furthermore, it is openly whispered that it is not exclusively the influence of President Gompers that has brought this about, and that if another than Gompers is chosen to ease the federation through its later travels the same tendency will continue.

Radicals Ignored

The federation is growing more conservative. So far during the convention only 95 resolutions have been introduced. Usually by the time a convention has advanced through its fourth day, 160 to 225 have been piled upon the table. The rule is that unanimous consent must be had before a resolution may be presented after the second day of the convention. The organization is so thoroughly shot through with conservatism that no "radical" movement may get even a preliminary hearing, under this rule.

Quite a stir was caused the other day by a rumor that a group of communists had appeared in the city to try to stampede the convention for some radical action or other. The conventions of other days would have been no more surprised by the report than if some one had said another delegate had registered. But the communists did not appear.

Singularly absent also, is the I. W. W. influence. For the most part, no delegates of pinkish hue were even sent here by the locals. If any gained election under false colors he has not raised his voice.

O. B. U. Poor Stuff

Not has the "one big union" idea gained much headway. Two resolutions with a slight amalgamative trend were introduced, one to permit a further amalgamation of unions allied in the same general crafts; another to allow a worker in one craft to affiliate, without paying initiatory fees in another union whose members require identical apprenticeship training. These were presented, however, by some of the most conservative delegates. Still one must not gain the idea that the "radical" influence is dead. It is still to be found in the logging camp, on the waterfront, in the mills, on shipboard, even on the farms.

Men who push the wheel barrow or wield the shovel may have red cards. But if the "wobblies" hope to gain any foothold in the convention, their intent has not developed.

Some talk was heard a week or so ago that an I. W. W. demonstration was to be staged before the eyes of the federation. It was to have been something like the demonstration here last spring when the hydro-electric construction camps and the logging industry were tied up for a time by the wobblies' "show of strength." But it has not appeared yet.

So one gains the impression from this convention that labor as an organized class is selecting the best things from capital and modeling them into tools whereby it can fight its battles and hold what ground it has gained. It has determined that Americanism is one of the best of these implements.

19TH BADGER INFANTRY SURVIVORS IN REUNION

REEDSBURG, Wis.—Fourteen of the forty-four survivors of the Nineteenth Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry met here this week in the thirty-sixth annual reunion of the regiment. Others unable to come by reason of advanced age or illness sent regrets and greetings to their old comrades. The veterans were greeted by Mayor Quimby and then in a body went to Greenwood cemetery to decorate the graves of deceased members Capt.

R. M. Strong, Lieut. H. A. Tate and Lieut. A. P. Elinwood. Tuesday night a smoker and camp fire was held, interspersed with music and short talks.

TEST FOR AUTO DRIVERS

DULUTH, Minn.—Charles E. Adams, state senator, announced at a meeting of the Duluth Professional Men's club, that he will introduce a bill at the next session of the legislature, to compel all automobile drivers to be licensed. To gain the license the applicant will have to undergo an examination as to his physical, mental and manual ability.

How Did Your Car Start This Morning?

In addition to the remarkable property of removing carbon, of not depositing carbon and of establishing a lubricating seal in the cylinders, the McWADE OIL retains its fluidity after other oils have congealed at low temperatures. This means that your engine will turn over as easily in midwinter as it does on a hot afternoon in July. In this feature alone, the use of this oil will greatly reduce the battery maintenance cost. TAKE MY WORD FOR IT AND TRY THIS OIL and see for yourself what it means to the running and upkeep of your car. It will prove a revelation.

SOAKS RIGHT IN AND LIMBERS UP STIFF JOINTS

Pharmacists call it "Joint-Ease" Because it's for Swollen, Sore, Painful, Creaky Joints Only.

It took a good many years to get together a combination of pain subduing and swelling reducing agents declared to be the one remedy that almost instantly penetrates through skin and flesh and starts right in to make swollen, inflamed, creaky, pain racked joints as good as new.

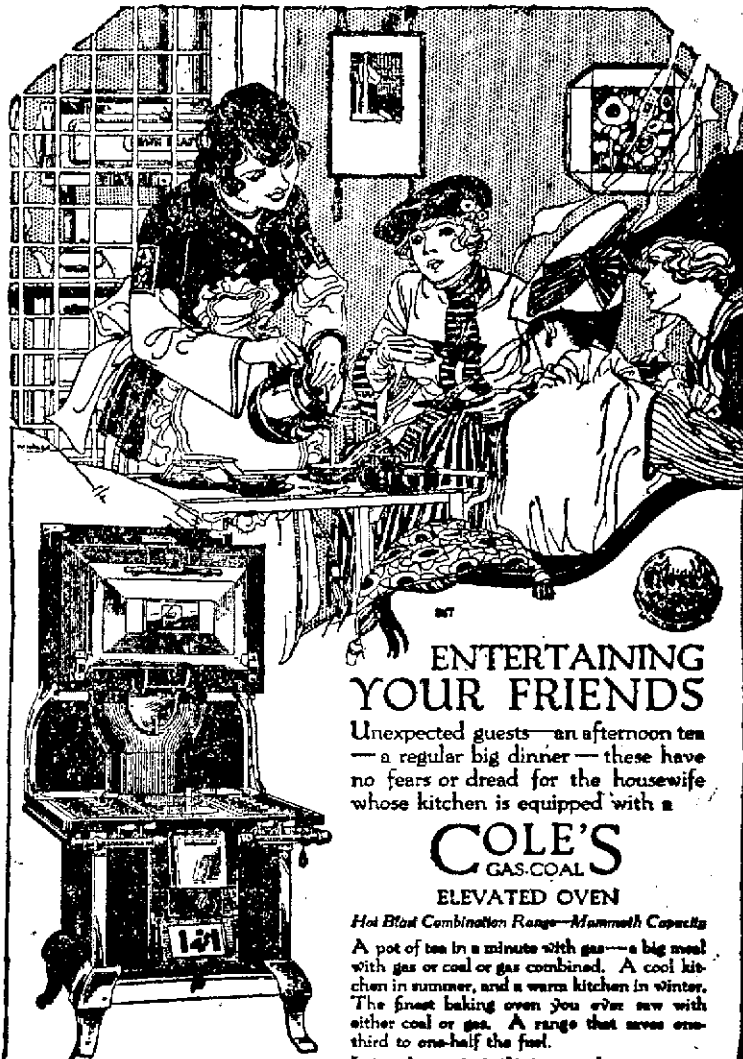

They call this new and wonderful preparation "Joint-Ease" because the medical man who turned the trick, worked for years to perfect some low-priced remedy that would really benefit the millions of people who have one or more joints that need helpful attention.

So "Joint-Ease" is prepared only for people who have a swollen, painful, creaky, distorted or stiff joint, whether it be in knee, elbow, shoulder, ankle, neck or finger and whether it is caused by rheumatism or something else.

Of course, it can't help but quickly put an end to such superficial ailments as lumbago, neuralgia, neuritis, aching muscles, stitch in the side, crick in the neck or sore feet because of its penetrating action, but what it is really recommended for is joint ailments of any nature whatever.

Ask for a tube of "Joint-Ease." You can use it several times in one evening for quick results, because it goes right through the skin with only a few seconds rubbing. It surely is a swift penetrator and when it gets under the skin it starts right in to clean up all joint trouble.

All druggists dispense it daily for about 60 cents a tube, as do first class druggists everywhere.
